Are You Ready To Inspire?

At KPT we understand that all children are unique and fabulous. We also know that the typical child is not synonymous with "perfectly well behaved and ready for rocket science." We take education, and rockets, very seriously, but our approach is based on adapting rocket science (and all curriculum areas) for children, showing them the amazingness of space travel, and embedding learning in exploration instead of a "one space suit fits all" style.

It is true that school age students should be able to adapt, sit for lessons, complete assignments, and behave appropriately in social settings. However, this does not always come naturally to children. So, it is unfair to judge them when they struggle- especially if we have not provided them with the guidance and coping skills they may need to succeed.

The dedicated staff at KPT are committed to maximizing the lifelong learning potential of all children. We provide the right atmosphere, resources, and environment that children need to grow and learn. We provide the right stuff because we know that Kids Play Today...so they are prepared for tomorrow!

Our Story & Mission

Kids Play Today (KPT) was established in 2007 by Neil and Rosemarie Schoepp. KPT began as an Educational Playcenter for young children and their parents. Music and educational classes were offered as "Mommy and Me" classes only. Drop-off was not permitted at that time. In February of 2009, Kids Play Today became licensed by the State of Pennsylvania as a drop-off preschool program.

The purpose of the Center is to provide a superior quality early childhood education and development program to serve children from two months to twelve years. Kids Play Today is a STAR 4 facility.

Mission:

We provide education and uniquely positive experiences to maximize life-long learning potential for all children and their families.

Team Culture

What Our Teachers Are Saying.....

Gabbi (1 Year) - I love:

- Getting to work with amazing and dedicated teachers everyday who I know genuinely care about the future of our kids
- Getting to see the faces of children light up when they complete a milestone or when they help a friend
- Knowing I am making a difference in so many lives without them even knowing it
- Knowing that there are children that trust me enough to look up to me for guidance and fun

Alyssa (5 Years) -

I love working at Kids Play Today because since I started working there in high school, they have made me feel like family. Starting with Miss Rosie, all the way down to the high schoolers who volunteer during the summer! Every day I love coming to work because I know no matter how my day goes one of my peers will be there for me at work, and also outside of work.

I also love creating bonds and relationships with the children, especially the babies. I have watched so many babies grow into toddlers, and even go onto kindergarten. Knowing I had some part of teaching them and keeping them safe, really makes me love my job.

Shaina (2 year) -

I love working at KPT because I get to be part of kids' early years growing and learning! I also love that I can build a connection and trust with the children and their families! I see growth in myself while teaching and caring for children. The environment is positive and the staff is helpful!

Build YOUR Career at KPT

Matthew (6 Years) -

I started working at Kids Play as a way to make some money in the summer while going to College, but after graduating I couldn't imagine going anywhere else. I've never had another job acknowledge and appreciate hard work, but KPT does. By always putting my best foot forward I've been able to help KPT grow while I also grow myself.

Christine- (11 Years)

I started out as a parent at KPT. Now I am the Director of Human Relations! What I love about working here is that even though I started as an assistant in the classroom, I was able to move up and find a position that fulfills my love of officework and still interact with the children. Knowing that I am making a difference in the lives of our families is the most meaningful part of my career.
